NMSU Cooperative Extension Service in conjunction with Administrative Committee for Pistachios, overseen by the USDA is hosting a pistachio production workshop in Alamogordo, NM.

Pruning, tree nutrition, water use, and current pistachio research from New Mexico State University are the topics at this workshop. There will be live demonstrations and lectures on pistachio production and tree health.

This promises to be a highly informative workshop presented by experts in the pistachio industry. Otero County is excited to offer a pistachio program of this caliber to anyone interested in attending. Please join us at Heart of the Desert Pistachios.

If you are an individual with a disability who is in need of an auxiliary aid or service to participate, please contact Sid Gordon at (575) 437-0231 or sgordon@nmsu.edu at least one week before the workshop.

BE BOLD. Shape the Future.
